

The Effects of Education and Income on Opioid Use in Kentucky *

Farah Chin 400229991
Talat
Nathan
Cindia
Ifra
Oliver

This paper reports our analysis of opioid prescriptions in Kentucky, USA, and its relationship with income and education at the level of counties. Data were obtained from the Washington Post database and the US Census.

Keywords: opioids, education, income, spatial analysis

Introduction

Words go here

Data

Words

Methods

Words

References

*Paper submitted to complete the requirements of ENVSOCTY 4GA3 Applied Spatial Statistics; with additional edits by Antonio Paez for this version.